LOCAL FINANCIAL ADVISOR TOM HINE LEADS GRASSROOTS EFFORT ON CAPITOL HILL

GLASTONBURY, CT – Tom Hine, an independent financial advisor affiliated with Commonwealth Financial Network® and CEO and Principal of Capital Wealth Management, LLC in Glastonbury, CT, recently helped lead a grassroots effort on Capitol Hill highlighting the importance of Americans' access to affordable, objective financial advice and protecting investors. Hine met with members of Congress and their staffs as part of the Financial Services Institute (FSI) team on June 6.

“Speaking directly to a member of Congress and letting them know what hard-working Americans are going through every day is invaluable,” said Hine. “This was an incredible opportunity for us to educate them on what Americans need in terms of financial advice and how what legislators and regulators are doing affects their lives.”

As part of the FSI grassroots team, Hine spoke to the members of Congress about these critical issues: reinstating the tax deductibility of financial advisory fees, supporting the PASS Act which would require the creation of an SEC-based best interest standard of care and the Department of Labor's (DOL) proposed rule allowing for association-sponsored health insurance plans for its members.

The independent financial advisor members of FSI serve more than 15 million American households. FSI members met with over 100 congressional offices including those who serve on House and Senate committees important to the investment community such as the Senate Banking Committee, Senate Health, Education, Labor and Pensions Committee, House Financial Services Committee and House Education and Workforce Committee.

“We are very pleased to have Tom Hine as an engaged member working on behalf of their clients,” said FSI President & CEO Dale Brown. “Conscientious members like Tom help bring real-life experience to our advocacy efforts. We plan to work closely with Tom as we advocate for independent financial advisors and the hard-working clients they serve.”
